Two critical Australian cases have exposed the racket

Summary:
The elite are draining Australia's wealth and the people's freedoms. They do it by using well paid functionaries. These lackeys or stooges could very easily be considered traitors when you realise how much damage they have caused to our people and country. The dual citizenship debacle and CBA bank crises are an opportunity for reform.

The functionaries have lost their clothes

The Emperors of Australian politics and finance have no clothes. We can now very clearly see what is going on.

The elite are running the show .... and the show is all about taking as much of our wealth as possible. The trick to this modern form of wage slavery is maintaining a facade that we are free people living in a democracy.

Two crises bring us a great opportunity to push for reform in Australia.

1. The dual citizenship stir which puts the careers and finances of several politicians at risk.

2. The Commonwealth Bank Australia (CBA) money laundering and terrorism funding scandal.

Our pollies and the bankers at CBA are not the elite. They are mere functionaries serving the elite. The other servants of critical importance to the elite are the judiciary and law enforcement.

The system must be challenged by people of good will and determination.

1. The politicians who have ignored the Australian Constitution must be punished. The High Court of Australia has absolutely no wriggle room on this. The intent of Section 44 is crystal clear. The people will not cop any excuses or legal mumbo jumbo.

2. The CBA CEO and board must be fined and jailed. Serious laws have been broken. There are no excuses. If the Government, police and courts do not take appropriate action the dirty, corrupt system is exposed for all to see.

Separate treatment under Australian & International law for functionaries of the elite is no longer tolerable. Any other ordinary citizen would be in jail for the crimes these functionaries have committed.

Police are frequently used by the banks in civil matters to harass victimised bank clients.

The CBA board and CEO have been involved in criminal activity. Where are the police?

If the law is not applied in these two cases why should any of us obey the law? Why should any of us pay taxes? Why should any of us be subject to phony bank contracts? It really seems that we are only are permitted a limited form of “freedom” whereby we have to rent our ability to exist on the planet. Every step of our way through life we have the elite draining our life force via a corrupted political, legal and financial system.

Australia is a wealthy country. All our public and private needs could be very well met with a fraction of the work and taxes required now. That indicates how much the elite rip out of our country every year thanks to their obedient and devoted functionaries.

We live in a commonwealth ..... the Commonwealth of Australia. A democratic nation where the people live under the rule of law ..... the Common Law. Not the rule of Royalty, bankers, politicians and lawyers. We can reclaim our freedom but powerful interest groups want to pretend otherwise and hope that we don't notice the con job. The elite are terrified of a nation that is truly free where people cherish and respect rights that make their enslavement to a criminal globalist agenda impossible. We can be that nation .... we are that nation. We are Australians and we will rise to the challenge.

It is now time to unite, take a stand and bring justice and prosperity back to the people.

The price of freedom is eternal vigilance.

The Emperors that serve the elite are naked, exposed and in their final days. If we can't laugh them out of office they will eventually be dragged out. Have you had enough of this charade? We have .... and we'd like to see the mainstream media wise up. Do not pay any respect to guys like Narev. It's a disgrace that journalists seem to take these characters seriously. It's like having Bonnie and Clyde explaining to us in prime time how we can lead better more fulfilling lives. Banking is organised theft. Political, legal and financial structures currently in place are hiding the truth ... our freedoms and rights have been stolen using an incredibly sophisticated illusion or confidence trick.
