4 Out Of 4 Aussie Bank Heads Say "No" To A Royal Commission. Here's Why.

1. Bankers do not want the crimes they engage in exposed via a powerful Royal Commission. ie predatory lending, unconscionable conduct, forgery, fraud, money laundering, rate rigging, drug trafficking, farmer evictions and tragically suicides.

2. Governments enrich the international banking cartel by continually increasing debt; taxing citizens to pay interest and hiding the fact that a free population with a sovereign monetary system can legally and constitutionally spend money into the economy to pay for such things as infrastructure. ie we can create necessary funds debt and interest free.

3. Home buyers and businesses are victims of contract fraud when they "borrow" from a bank. The bank does not "loan" you a cent. The promissory note and irrevocable power of attorney you sign gives the bank the power to exploit you. Interest is charged on value that you gave the bank. It is a financial sleight of hand which sees bank customers become victims of the Monetary Industrial Complex.

4. A Royal Commission will see victims of the Big Four Aussie banks testify. You will see NAB victims like Dr Barry Landa, Faye Andrews, Rita Troiani & Erika Biritz tell their horrific stories of being deliberately stripped of millions of dollars by crooked bankers, lawyers and liquidators. You'll also see victims of CBA/Bankwest and ANZ/Landmark/Timbercorp lining up to tell their own stories. A powerful Royal Commission will also have bank CEOs and Directors investigated and held accountable.

That's why the bankers do not want a Royal Commission. There are also many politicians and Judges with skeletons in the closet regarding their own banking and business dealings. We don't care what these colourful characters want. We want a fair go for all Australians and genuine bank reform is the best way to make it happen.
